“The course had the unique ability to present many of the key points of the mindset you need to have to approach Medical Oncology. Thanks to high quality lectures and constant interactions with professors and students in an informal and cozy environment, this course was able to expand my knowledge in Oncology and widen the horizons of my future career, and in just five days!”

Alberto Sogari, Italy

“It has been a tremendous five days with highly educational presentations and outstanding speakers. Very well organized, inspiring atmosphere. A definite recommendation for anyone considering a career in Medical Oncology.”

Hendrik Pott, Germany

“A standout memory of my whole time at medical school; a truly spectacular and remarkable experience! This course brings you in touch with the foundations and developments of the field of Medical Oncology as well as providing a brilliant medium for meeting students and professors from all over the continent who share the same passion and fervour for life, medicine and oncology. I could not recommend and advocate this course more.”
